Dear Martin

With reference to the positions of Continuous Integration Engineer, and Project Manager as advertised on Moodle, I would like to register my interest in these roles.

Of primary interest is the role of 'Continuous Integration Engineer'. This is a role that I would find extremely interesting as it would give me the opportunity to put into practice my existing experience while learning industry relevant best practice skills.

Having a brief overview of setup and maintenance of new Continuous Integration solutions as well as creation of CI tasks/pipelines, this is an area that I am very keen to learn more about, being an area that I intent to focus on in future.

With experience in both deployment and project management through my work in the Studio 3 project, I believe I would be an ideal candidate for either of these roles.

Yours sincerely

Anthony Legg
